G. O. P. GIRDING ITS LOINS FOR BUSY SESSION

Machinery of Government Is Going at Top Speed, Lawrence Says

MANY BILLS WILL DIE
Republicans Will Not Be Proud of Record Made During Session

Washington, D. C.—Recent developments indicate that both at the legislative and executive ends of the government the whole machinery is going at top speed in anticipation not only of the inauguration but the wind-up of congress next Wednesday.

Many important bills will die. The sponsors are beginning to concede that. The record of this session will not be one that the Republicans will boast about. But they are girding their loins for a real session in the latter part of this year.

The election of Representative Longworth of Ohio as speaker and Representative Tilson of Connecticut as floor leader insures an aggressive combination of party leadership in the house. In the senate the reading out of the party of some of the important bills, especially the one which is possible under senate rules for a handful of men to act as obstructionists almost at will.

SEE END OF DEBT SQUABBLE
Meanwhile at the executive end of Pennsylvania the conversations begun between the new French ambassador and Secretary Mellon relative to debts is in line with the French determination no longer to ignore the question but to make a pretense at least of giving it consideration and arguing for better terms.

The return of Frank B. Kellogg, new secretary of state, starts the new foreign policy working because in the several weeks since the resignation of Secretary Hughes was announced no major policies have been embarked upon.

This has been in a sense true of other departments where vacancies occur so that Mar. 4 when the new session of the senate meets and Charles E. Warren is confirmed as attorney general will get that big department working on its numerous cases. Mr. Warren may yet be confirmed before Mar. 4 as opposition to him is crumbling.

NO WEEKS WILL RESIGN
No new vacancies in the cabinet are imminent though it is known that the secretary of war, John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts will resign within a few months. His resignation has long been in the hands of the president to be acted upon whenever the president wants to make the change. Mr. Weeks has long been desirous of leaving public life for a few years of rest and travel. He and Mr. Weeks are planning a trip around the world. The war secretary is a man of considerable means and is not said to be anxious to return to private business.

Other vacancies may occur during the summer months but the president does not want at this time to have too many changes as his mind is occupied with legislative trouble. When congress has adjourned and he can take inventory of what the session has left undone, the next few months will enable him to go more closely into the question of executive personnel.

TAX BILL FACES TEST WEDNESDAY

Senate Will Vote on Engrossment or Third Reading of Measure

By Associated Press
Madison—The administration tax bill known in legislative parlance as Senate bill 122, comes before the senate Wednesday for a first official test of strength or weakness, when that body will vote on the question whether the bill shall be engrossed and read a third time. If a favorable vote for engrossment is had, the bill will come before the senate on the next calendar day for vote on passage or rejection.

Much of the time Wednesday will be taken up with the offering of amendment. The Socialist bloc is expected to present at least two amendments and Senator Max Baughman of Maine one. The bill will have plenty of opposition when it reaches the floor, and the question may not be decided as to engrossment on the first day.

BILGRIEN HAS NEW PLAN FOR TAX MEASURE

Iron Ridge Senator Leads Assault on Bill Scheduled Wednesday

By Associated Press
Madison—The administration tax bill due for consideration on the state senate Wednesday is scheduled to bear the brunt of an assault made on the floor by Senator Herman Bilgrien of Iron Ridge, who would take apart its components and reassemble by an amendment another plan which the senator says is based on common sense.

Starting with a proposal to eliminate 50 per cent of the personal property offset, the amendment would leave 50 per cent personal offset in the bill. It then provides:

1. The offset thus retained could be used only in the taxing district where taxpayer resides on property held by him in that district and no other.

2. Tax on dividends would be eliminated from the proposed bill.

3. The distribution would be changed as follows: To the community where tax is collected 50 per cent; for the state 30 per cent, and to the county 10 per cent.

Under the administration tax bill the distribution is 45 per cent to the community; 45 per cent to the state and 10 per cent to the county. The distribution under the income tax law now in effect is 70 per cent to the community; 20 per cent to the state, and 10 per cent to the county. Senator Bilgrien did not give figures to show the effect of his proposed amendment.

RETAIN $500,000 ITEM IN RECLAMATION BUDGET

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Conferees on the interior department bill agreed Monday to retain in the measure the $500,000 item for the Spanish Springs reclamation project in Nevada.

Leaders on both sides of the senate predicted that the agreement would remove the threat of a last minute filibuster on any of the vital appropriation bills.

The house amendment withholding use of the appropriation for Spanish Springs until the state of Nevada had entered into a contract with the interior department for repayment of advances to settlers, was withdrawn.

ASSEMBLY KILLS FOUR MEASURES BY POSTPONEMENT

Six Bills Are Passed and One Is Concurred in by Badger Senate

By Associated Press
Madison—Four measures were killed through indefinite postponement by the assembly Monday, six were passed and one senate bill was concurred in. There was little discussion on any of the bills.

Miss Helen Thompson's proposal for semi-annual payment of taxes was defeated by a vote of 41 to 12. Chairman Schmidt of the taxation committee said it was so important that more attention should be devoted to its effect.

Other bills indefinitely postponed included the Raible measure to require county judges to be attorneys of a court of record, affecting a few counties where the county judges are not lawyers; Hillman bill increasing trapping license fees and Royce bill altering the procedure for organization of new towns.

The Hillman bill for a uniform nine months school term was passed, 27 to 25, but reconsideration was asked and will be taken up later in the week. Other measures passed included: Leaving the fixing of salaries of members of the district school boards to the electors; Thorpe, two bills, making closed seasons for Hungarian partridges and muskels in Jefferson; Stokes, and bills relating to recording of plats of land—Zitlow and baiting animals—Raible.

There was an attendance of about 700 from all parts of the state, reports indicated, and steps were being taken to reorganize the party forces to combat legislative practices which it holds are detrimental to the welfare of Wisconsin.

"Several hundred enthusiastic Wisconsin Republicans in conference assembled send greetings on the occasion of your inauguration as president of the United States."

The conference got under way at about 11 o'clock and was marked by organization, election of a committee on constitution and organization, selection of Timothy E. Burke of Green Bay as chairman and adoption of a resolution pledging support and confidence to the president of the United States.

EXPECT ROAD BILL WILL PASS MUSTER

State Assembly Will Act on Highway Measure Tuesday or Wednesday

By Associated Press
Madison—The administration highway bill carrying a distribution program of approximately $15,000,000 in road aid, raised through automobile weight tax, a two cent per gallon gasoline tax and federal aid, is scheduled to make its initial appearance in the assembly this week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

The indication is that the bill will eventually pass this body without serious opposition. The bill comes to the assembly first on the question of whether it shall be engrossed. Under the assembly procedure three voting stages are the rule before the bill may be passed. It is first considered for engrossment, then for first reading and finally for passage. But under suspension of the rules, a bill may go through all three stages in one day.

Passage of the bill was had in the senate last week, where it was engrossed, read a third time and passed on the same day.

RAILROADS NEED NOT SUBMIT DISPUTES TO BOARD, COURT RULING

Washington, D. C.—Railroads are not required to submit to the railroad labor board for arbitration labor disputes with their employees.

The supreme court so declared Monday in a decision declaring the roads can determine who shall be recognized as representing their employees in labor disputes.

The decision was handed down in two cases brought against the Pennsylvania railroad by labor unions of which some of its employees are members.

The decision is regarded as having a serious effect on labor board authority, the railroads having indicated they would ignore it as a tribunal in many cases should the court uphold the contentions of the Pennsylvania. Nevertheless the court held that the railroads are required to negotiate wages, hours of labor and other disputes with representatives of labor organizations or submit them to the railroad labor board for arbitration under the transportation act of 1920.

SUPREME COURT READY TO WELCOME NEW JUDGE

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The supreme court of the United States was prepared to receive Harlan F. Stone, of New York, as a member Monday with its traditional ceremony of induction into office which has become a familiar one in the last few years.

The ceremony of oath taking has always formed a brief but impressive interlude in the supreme court sessions. Donning his robes of office, the incoming member takes a position behind the screen at the rear of the bench remaining there until the chief justice announces his presence to take the oath and the clerk of the court reads his commission.

On then presenting himself at the side of the chief justice, the latter administers the judicial oath, with the court and the audience standing. A formal welcome extended on behalf of the court by the chief justice ends the ceremony, and the new member then takes his seat at the foot of the bench to the left of the chief justice.

Just before going to the capital to take his place on the bench, Mr. Stone submitted to President Coolidge his formal resignation as attorney general.

President Approved Plan to Write Articles on Air Strength

PATRICK AMENDS STORY Contradictions and Counter Charges Complicate Aircraft Probe

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The dispute over charges that Brigadier General Mitchell disobeyed orders in publishing a recent series of magazine articles on air power became entangled Monday in a maze of contradictions and counter charges.

Secretary Weeks has told the aircraft house committee that the articles were published in violation of an order by President Coolidge. Monday General Mitchell advised the house aircraft committee that the president had given his consent, conditioned on that of Major General Patrick, the army air service chief which subsequently was given. But General Patrick Mitchell told him that the president approved.

General Patrick aid General Mitchell told him at the same time that the articles contained nothing but facts and that controversial statements would be eliminated.

Secretary Weeks, recalled that he had given orders long ago that General Mitchell should submit to the war department a list of articles he might write containing an expression of opinion.

In a letter to the house aircraft committee General Mitchell declared he had "in no way disobeyed or transgressed any known order or instruction that I am familiar with."

"It would seem," his letter added, "that if I had violated orders, my attention should have been drawn to them long before the present time and action taken accordingly."

General Mitchell's letter was read to the committee by Chairman Lamport just before Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske took the stand to give his opinions as to the relative value of aircraft.

An editor of the Saturday Evening Post, the general said, asked him last November to write a series of articles on power, and later accompanied him to the White House to lay the project before the president.

"The president reiterated his great interest in aeronautics which he has always shown," the letter continued, "and said he considered a series of articles of this subject to be beneficial, and that I should obtain the permission of my superior officer, the chief of the air service."

"I immediately reported to the chief of the air service what had occurred and requested the permission to write the articles."

"He gave permission then for me to write them. No mention was made at all about submitting copies."

General Mitchell attached a copy of a letter he said he had received from President Coolidge saying:

"Confirming my conversation with you this morning, I do not know of any objection to your preparing some articles on aviation so far as I am concerned, but of course I cannot speak for your superior officers. The matter should be taken up with them and their decision in relation to the articles followed."

Admiral Fiske told the committee he could not agree with the recent testimony by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, president that the battleship has become obsolete.

BILL WOULD MAKE STATE HIGHWAYS ARTERIAL ROADS

Amend Law to Permit Villages to Regulate Automobile Traffic

Madison—Provisions for arterial highways in villages, towns and on state trunk lines, made in several bills that have been introduced into the assembly, are incorporated into the measure just introduced by the committee on highways.

The measure amends the present arterial highway law relating to cities to include towns and villages, and it adds a new section to permit county highway committees to designate county trunk lines as arterial.

Under the new bill, town or village boards may regulate traffic at intersections by traffic devices. The highway commission, however, is given the power to declare state trunk highways arterial, and it may sign regulation of the nature for traffic on any street in cities which connect trunk lines and which are marked trunk highways.

All arterial highways, where it is required that vehicles come to a full stop before entering upon or crossing must be marked with a stop sign, which shall be uniform throughout the state, the bill provides. It permits the highway commission to furnish on request, at cost, such signs to towns, villages or counties.

Another bill introduced by the highway commission would require that all state or municipally owned cars, except motor trucks, motor delivery wagons, trailers or semi-trailers, be registered with the secretary of state in the same manner as privately owned cars. Under the present laws, state owned automobiles are registered upon payment of a $1 license fee and they receive a special type of license. The new registration only in this type of trucks, motor delivery wagons or trailers.

Irish Suffer From Hunger And Cold When Black Rain Destroys Potatoes And Peat

BY MILTON BRONNER

Galway—Hunger sits down at table as an unwelcome and bitterly feared guest and Cold keeps him company in thousand of cabin homes today in western Ireland.

That is what a partial potato crop failure and peat shortage mean for Galway and Donegal and Kerry and Mayo.

Here I'm up against the real thing in this 1925 death in Ireland. Listen to the talk of Mrs. Bartley Connelly—out this way she pronounces it "Konnelly"—as she tells in curious sing-song English how it came about: "And the black rain fell. All day and every day. All spring it fell and all summer and all the rest of the year. Always the rain, the dull roar of it. Sorrows and sorrows the potatoes. The potatoes were washed away or rotted. And the turf melted away with the wetness. No food for the potatoes. No food for the people. Emptiness and blackness in the house. And the children crying because of the hunger and the cold."

The people here always have been divided from acute suffering by a hair-line. Plenty they never know. Congestion is beyond relief. Centuries ago when Ireland was a conquered country the natives were driven from the fat lands of the east and found final refuge in the west which tempted nobody.

The Connelly cabin is the usual shanty of this coast—stone walls, badly thatched roof, one room 20 by 10 feet. The one door stands open so light can penetrate. The floor is the bare, rocky earth. The whole family and the chickens—when they have them—and the dog—and the pig—live in this shelter.

Mrs. Connelly tells me her man is away working on a neighboring and bigger farm. He gets a job there two days a week, and his total earnings are four shillings, about a dollar. With this, and the potatoes he can raise, the turf he can dry and the fish he can catch, Bartley Connelly, 45, must support himself, his wife and his eight children. Also for his wretched place he calls home he must pay 18 shillings a year rental.

The housewife—with never a word of complaint or of coddling—invites the visitors within. On the hearth two pieces of turf flame feebly, emitting their acrid smoke. In the corner I see a bundle of rag. They move. They are children cuddling.

TWO CANDIDATES IN FIRST WARD

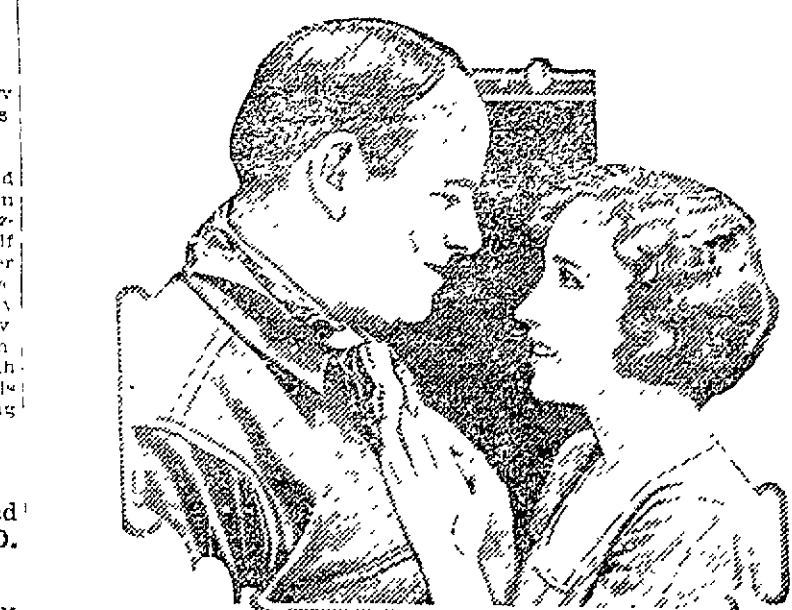

Two more candidates for city offices have filed their nomination papers in the office of the city clerk for entry on ballots of the primary election Mar. 24. They are Alderman H. R. Beske, who has represented the Sixth ward for seven years, or ever since the return to the aldermanic form of government, and W. O. Clark, 533 N. Center-st., candidate for alderman from the First ward. Mr. Clark was for several years commissioner of poor in Appleton and was in the feed business under the firm name of Comerford & Clark.

The other candidates who had filed papers previously are Louis C. Jens, candidate for supervisor, Sixth ward, L. E. Bushy for supervisor of First ward, R. P. McGilgan, for alderman of Fourth ward, Philip Vogt, for alderman of Sixth ward, H. G. Thomas, for alderman of First ward; Charles Foe, for alderman of Fifth ward, C. P. Smith for alderman of Third ward.

against each other in a vain search for a little warmth. They are Michael and Thomas S., and they are dressed in petticoats as are so many boys in this section, even those as old as 14. Over Connemara way, Mrs. Connelly says, people are worse off. Their fires are out.

Farms in this section consist of little peat stamp patches of land between rocks, boulders and bogs, carefully fertilized with rotting seaweed. When the saints are favorable the cabin dwellers have potatoes, bread and fish for food and are kept warm by the turf fires on their hearths. But this year, nothing has been good. And although so far in an extensive trip up and down the western counties of Ireland I have not heard of a single authenticated case of death from starvation or from typhoid fever, famines accompanying plagues. I have marveled that the people survive the hardship of their lives.

Light laughter is rare. Sadness is stamped on their faces and especially in their eyes.

The present trouble has been a test of the Irish Free State government. Fairness requires that it be stated that the government has risen well to the occasion. Last December, foreseeing what was coming, the government allocated 500,000 pounds for relief funds and relief work.

Over 6,000 tons of coal are being shipped to the places where there is a peat shortage. It is sold at six pence (10 cents) a hundredweight. Wood for fires is also being sent in by the government. Seed potatoes for the next crop are being distributed. Eighteen thousand school children are being given a daily meal of bread, margarine and cocoa. Doctors are out in the districts to see that there is no epidemic, and so far they have been successful.

The relief work being done is mostly in the shape of road building which is thus a permanent asset to the country. Hundreds of men are thus being given employment at useful work, enabling them to tide their families over until the spring comes.

I talked with many parish priests up and down the coast and in many cases I got this message for charitable America:

"Send us shoes! Our own government is taking care of the people as regards food and fuel. But to clothe the bare feet of the women and children is not so easy. Send us shoes!"

FORMER APPLETON MAN TESTS STUDENTS' MINDS

Eau Claire—Just what is making the wheels go 'round inside the average high school pupil's brain will be determined to some extent through a questionnaire prepared by Paul G. W. Keller, city superintendent of schools, and filled in by attendants of the local school.

Favorite sports, games, magazines, books and occupations are included in the 11 questions submitted for designation. "What person, not in the local neighborhood, would you want to be like if you could?" another query reads. Other questions ask were:

"If you had lots of money and were perfectly free to travel, what foreign country would you visit?"

"If you had lots of money to spend, just as you wanted to spend it, name three things that you would buy for yourself?"

COUNTY MAY ACCEPT HELP TO TAKE SNOW OFF ROADS

Madison—Snow removal from highways by counties with the aid of contributions would be permitted under a bill introduced in the Wisconsin legislature by the assembly highways committee.

Whenever a petition accompanied by a contribution of cash, or its equivalent, is filed with the county highway committee, asking the county to use it to keep specified portions of a state trunk highway open for travel during the winter, it may be accepted by the committee, the bill provides.

Not more than $50 would be expended for each mile of highway and any surplus funds could be used the following winter.

UN SOUND TAX ARGUMENTS

Senator Johnson, chairman of the senate corporations and taxation committee, which introduced the administration tax bill, is quoted as saying in defense of the measure:

Even if this bill is adopted, by far the largest part of all taxes will still be levied on property. The change made will only be that, instead of collecting $100,000,000 from property and less than $7,000,000 from incomes, $94,000,000 will be collected from property and $13,000,000 from income. Certainly this cannot be said to be burdening incomes unfairly.

This is a sample of the argument used to uphold the proposed heavy increase of income taxation in Wisconsin. It is obvious that it reveals a want of understanding of the facts upon which taxation of either character should be based. Such a comparison is of no significance. It is merely figures. It can mean nothing.

Because property taxes in Wisconsin are $100,000,000 annually and income $7,000,000 argues nothing as to the relative justice of the taxes. It is merely a bald assertion to say that they are out of balance.

Property taxes must rest on the ability of property to pay taxes, together with the willingness of the people to be taxed for public improvements, administration, etc. Property taxes are wholly within the control of taxpayers. Ninety-five per cent of all property taxes are imposed locally. If the people are not satisfied with local taxation and think it is too high they can turn their officials out and elect others who will reduce taxes. They can get along without improvements and cheaper service and pay less taxes.

The efficacy and justice of income taxation can have little to do with taxes on property, but rests solely on the ability of income producers to meet these taxes and soundly maintain and develop industry.

The total wealth of Wisconsin by the United States census of 1922 is $7,866,000,000. This is property. The property tax in Wisconsin is, as stated above, $100,000,000 annually. This is a tax of 1.27 per cent, or $12.70 per thousand. The reason why the actual tax rate is higher than this is because property is assessed in Wisconsin at 85 per cent of its value and because hundreds of millions of dollars of property are not assessed at all.

Whether property taxes are considered high or not depends largely upon the local viewpoint. In Appleton they pay a tax of $35 a thousand and in Green Bay about $29. That is a great difference, and yet it illustrates the difference of viewpoint and of policy. This taxation, as we have explained, is within the direct control of the taxpayers.

Production is the basis of income taxation. Unless wealth is produced, there is no tax. Therefore it should not be so high as to discourage production and industry, nor should it fall so heavily as to keep industry struggling to maintain itself and to live from hand to mouth. The margin of profit should be sufficient to take care of development and maintenance and pay good wages in addition to dividends.

Now let us see what real consideration Mr. Johnson has for industry in Wisconsin when he speaks so lightly of increasing income taxation from $7,000,000 to $13,000,000 with a dash of the pen. Corporations in Wisconsin, that is manufacturing and business institutions of all character, pay not only state income tax but a large federal income tax. The latest government statistics show that the corporation net income in Wisconsin in 1921 was $74,382,000. In passing it is worth recording that the corporation net income in Wisconsin for 1921 was less than half what it was in 1920, being $163,938,000 for the latter year.

On the net income of $74,382,000 in 1921 corporations of Wisconsin paid federal taxes of $11,027,236. This is a tax of more than 15 per cent on net earnings. After this tax was paid, the real property and either income or personal property tax of Wisconsin had to be paid. The total taxes by corporations in that year would easily run from 20 to 40 per cent. The federal tax is lower now, but the average total tax paid by corporations in Wisconsin is still very high.

How can Senator Johnson, without an intimate knowledge of business and of industry, say with a wave of the hand that to increase income taxes in Wisconsin by $6,000,000 would not be unduly burdensome? How can he say with any degree of accuracy or of justice that such an increase should be made, that it would be wise to make, that it is right to load this additional tax onto productive enterprise ostensibly to shield local taxing units in their prodigality with public funds? His own admissions before the senate committee show that he has made no study of the subject. They were a series of "I don't know's."

Let us take conditions locally, and they will apply throughout the state. The paper mill industry, which to a large extent underlies our prosperity in the Fox River Valley and in other portions of Wisconsin, has had hard sledding since 1921. Some mills have had to be reorganized or have gone into the hands of receivers. Some have not paid dividends for three or four years. Many have curtailed production and laid off men and others operated on short time. They have been running on a close margin.

It is true the paper mills made large earnings during the latter part of the war, but this unusual prosperity lasted only a few years. Over a period of ten, twenty, thirty, fifty or one hundred years it means little or nothing, and we should expect to have the paper industry with us indefinitely. A flare of profits is of avail in a period of depression only when preserved as a surplus, and our legislators appear to think that profits sufficient to permit the building up of surpluses are vicious. There are many other industries in Wisconsin which have been operating with difficulty and on a slender margin during the last four years. The fact that corporation net income was cut in two in Wisconsin in one year shows the heavy decrease in industrial profit.

What does Senator Johnson know about the ability of the hundreds of manufacturing institutions and business concerns in Wisconsin to meet increased income taxation? Clearly, not much. Nor does he care very much, and yet an increase of $6,000,000 annually in income tax in Wisconsin will mean to many businessmen and many forms of productive enterprise loss of profits, actual hardship, lowered ability to meet competition, etc.

Hundreds upon hundreds of manufacturers and business men do not flock to Madison to protest against tax legislation because they are hogs or because they are selfish. They are men who understand business, the relationship of taxation to it and the value of productive business to the community and state, not only in the employment it affords, but in the prosperity it promotes. If they felt that this addition of $6,000,000 to income taxes would promote prosperity, make business better, improve their earning capacity, they would not oppose it, but they know better. They know that it will be detrimental and that the policy of the state should be economy and reduced taxes instead.

The proposed revision of taxes at Madison is not based on an understanding of the subject and is without investigation or study. It is the snap judgment of a few politicians who get into a room and say that thus and so shall be done. "We will increase income taxes because we believe they ought to be." "Some men and some industries are making more money than we think they should make, or we suspect they are, therefore we will make all industry pay larger taxes." "Income is profit; we will take what we want of it." This is the line of reasoning, and then some theorist with no practical knowledge of industry draws up a bill based on his abstract idea of what taxes should be.

There is nothing scientific or just or reasonable about the proposed revision of taxes upward. It is a blind guess and a blind blow. It is partly to avenge feeling and prejudice against those who are successful and partly to gain favor with voters who are misled into the belief that the move is going to save them money.

Every thinking person knows that no one will be saved any money. No one can be saved any money. If $6,000,000 additional taxes are paid by productive enterprise in Wisconsin, it is the people who will pay. They will pay it in the price of everything they buy, for it must all go into overhead if industry is to make a profit.

Senator Johnson says that the tax bill will wipe out at least $5,000,000, or 5 per cent, of property taxes. How does he know? It is purely a paper calculation. As a matter of fact, no such thing will happen, and he knows it. Who is so rash as to predict that in every city and county of Wisconsin the governing bodies will reduce property taxes 5 per cent on the assumption that they are going to receive a larger proportion of the income tax? The small amount of their part of the income tax increase will not make the slightest difference in their budgets or their needs for revenue. Property tax rates will remain the same. All that will happen will be that more money will be provided for politicians to spend. Viewed from any and every angle the administration tax bill is a fraud and an imposition. It increases taxes where there is no justification. It affords no one the slightest relief. There is only one way to have relief from high taxation, and that is to reduce taxes and not increase them. No one except a person blinded by faction or political feeling will deny this.

CLUB NOTES.
"SAY, what are you workin' at, dad?" says I, when I found pop pluggin' away. Then he just glanced up and he gave reply, "Why, this isn't work; it's play."
I sat me down by his side and then I offered to help him through. "Why, sure," says he, "give your skill a ride. There's plenty that you can do."
I picked up a cloth that was near at hand and I dipped in some polish white. Says dad, "Now I want you to understand, it's a job you must do up right."
I shined and shined till the shined things shone; then I shined 'em all over again. Dad called this play! Well, I might have known that it's play to his type of men.
When he finally quit and the job was done, dad shouted, "I'm set for my fling." 'Twas cleaning golf clubs that he called fun. Now he's waiting the call of spring.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
Monday, March 5, 1900.
Veterans of the Spanish-American war met at the armory Saturday night and organized Charles O. Baer camp of the National Association of Spanish War Veterans. The charter roll contained 30 out of 200 prospective members in the county. The officers were: Commander, H. E. Pomeroy; senior vice commander, Maurice S. Peerenboom; junior vice commander, George Merkel; adjutant, R. Hubbard; quartermaster, W. H. Zuehlke; officer of the day, Gust Biessman; officer of the guard, Andrew Peters.

George Johnston, substitute mail carrier at Appleton postoffice, returned Saturday from a four months trip to Cripple Creek, Colo.
Gilbert Paper Co. of Menasha, was reorganized due to the death of William Gilbert, President of the company. The new officers were to be: President, W. M. Gilbert; treasurer, Albert Gilbert; secretary, Theodore Gilbert. The capital stock was increased from $100,000 to $200,000.
Now that Appleton had a new city hall and library and a fine new hospital, citizens were beginning to agitate construction of a new armory.
Miss Cora Hatch, who had been stenographer for A. L. Smith for a number of years, went to Milwaukee to accept a similar position.

Young Man, 25, Framed Federal Tax Measure

(Oliver McKee, Jr., in The Open Road.)
"We in England who have grown gray in studying the science of taxation, do not see how so young a man as Alexander White Gregg has been able to learn at 25 what it has taken us the better part of a lifetime to master." Such are the words of an English tax expert about the man who was virtually the framer of the 1924 revenue act, and who, as a special assistant to Secretary Mellon, has gone abroad to study British tax methods and procedure for the treasury department.
Alexander Gregg's father was for 17 years a congressman from Texas.
Congressman Gregg died but a few years ago. During his youth his son, Alexander, learned at first hand something of the workings of Uncle Sam's government.
It was five years ago, while he was still studying law, that he first entered the employ of the government.
His first assignment was a clerical job with the committee on rules and regulations in the bureau of internal revenue.
His abilities soon attracted the attention of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair and shortly thereafter he was given a job of more than ordinary difficulty to perform.
The task given him he performed to the eminent satisfaction of his superiors, and from then on he was a marked man. Commissioner Blair made him chairman of the special committee on appeals and review.
Here in a few months he made an enviable record, hearing and passing upon some 300 tax cases, many of them involving large sums of money.
The next job came quickly on the heels of this, and was an even bigger and more testing assignment. Every taxpayer—and what American is not —knows by reputation at least the revenue act of 1924, by which his taxes were cut from a quarter to a half. A tax law is probably the most difficult of all laws to prepare. Those who prepare it must be able lawyers as well as experts in the science of taxation.
Gregg was largely responsible for the writing of this act, and, though he had many helpers, including the legislative drafting officers at the capitol, he was the directing and the organizing genius.
An associate who has worked with his for years tells of his work in the following words: "First of all he is a demon for work. He has an astonishing, really a photographic memory. He has only to read a given tax case once, and all the details of that case are indelibly fixed in his memory. His mind works with rapid fire speed. He seldom indulges in superfluous talk, and takes little time getting to the heart of a given matter. He is full of boyish energy and enthusiasm, and loves his work with an overpowering love. His knowledge of taxation is so minute and comprehensive that it can best be described as phenomenal."

Come In Anyway!

Whether you are lucky (or unlucky) enough to be filling out a small income blank—or if you are blessed (or cursed) with riches and a surtax—you are welcome here.

This isn't a rich man's store by a long shot—it isn't a cheap store either—but it's the type of store that caters to the man who makes $1500 a year or $1500 a minute—and we are the kind of people who can greet a Mr. "Smith" just as pleasantly as we would say, "Good Morning Mr.
Rockefeller."

The size of your income makes no difference to us—but the size of our Values should make a big difference to you.

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

THE AWAKENING OF THE BLACK MAN
About a Year ago I contributed an "Adventure" to this series in which I voiced the hope that out of the vast, rich depths of Negro life would come forth a novelist who would tell the world something vital about this race, something with more meaning than is found in the hundreds of stories that assume the Negro is more slapstick comedy stuff or in the "mammy" type of story which sentimentalizes the black race.

Later I worked up the "Adventure" into a magazine article which was published in the "Independent Magazine," and quoting that article, the Negro magazine of New York City, "Opportunity," points out that the year 1924 has actually produced what the "Adventure" asked for at the beginning of the year. Not that there is any connection between the two but it is interesting to find that the Negro writer is becoming articulate and "Opportunity's" review of books written and published by Negroes during 1924 makes rather an imposing list.

WHITE WROTE STRONG BOOK
Outstanding among them is "The Fire in the Flint," a novel about Negro life by a Negro, Walter F. White.
This book, which I have not read, is published by one of America's most distinguished publishers and it has aroused passionate controversy, especially in the South. It is said that one white reviewer was disinherited by his southern father because he had a good word to say for it.

The year also brought out what is described by "Opportunity" as being "probably the first full fledged novel by a Negro woman." That is something to remember. Even though such a book is not important in itself, it is a sign of intellectual life among the black race that is significant and it makes the year 1924 a date to be remembered. This book is called "There Is Confusion" and it is from the pen

Jews Rebuilding Palestine

Nineteen centuries have past since the Lord uttered His well known pronouncement against the Jewish Nation, "That they would be led captives into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled." Luke 21:24.

No prophesy of the Scriptures can be said to be more truly fulfilled than the above, and now after nineteen centuries of humiliating and cruel exile the Jews are returning to their homeland, in harmony with the inspired prophesies of their forefathers. (see Jer. 31st Chapter).

Without a doubt these facts are very significant, to all students of the Holy Scriptures, and all observers of the great political changes on the world horizon.

The newly organized Jewish state stands in a marked contrast in its spirit of organization, co-operation, and progress, as compared with other nations of the earth.

This remarkable movement among the God-fearing Jews returning to the land of their forefathers BECAUSE OF THE PROPHECIES, is very significant and according to the Scriptures marks world's distress as earth's final cataclysm.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmothers' time. So used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dulled or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyleth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy. adv.

READER CLOSES WINTER PROGRAM OF LYCEUM BOARD

Roseth Knapp Breed Will Present Recital in Kaukauna High School

Special to Post-Crescent
Kaukauna—The final number of the community Lyceum course will be held in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. The program will be presented by Roseth Knapp Breed, reader, impersonator and humorist. She is said to be one of the best dramatic impersonators before the public.

Mrs. Breed presents a clean, artistic entertainment. Her program embraces character sketches that are classics of the platform. She also tells stories, blending keen humor and satire with delicate pathos in an artistic manner. She usually appears in costume in keeping with the number she is giving.

The number will close a course of five programs given at intervals during the last winter. Attendance at these programs has not been what was expected or what is necessary to support the venture and it is doubtful whether those sponsoring the movement will again attempt to provide entertainment for local citizens. An attempt will be made to secure a larger crowd for the program Tuesday evening. Those who have not secured season tickets will be able to purchase single admissions at the door.

New London high school dropped the last game of its eleven-game schedule to Waupaca high school last Friday evening at Waupaca, by a score of 17 to 13. More In Taxes WISCONSIN NOW HAS THE HIGHEST Income Taxes of any state in the Union. But the Tax Collectors are not satisfied. They want more and more.

Where shall we stop? Shall we lock the door after many of the Taxpayers have gone or do it now?

The Personal Property Tax Offset is in the Wisconsin tax law to protect the producers of our prosperity from excessive taxation. Let's keep it there.

Without it 33,000 Farmers will pay taxes both on their herds of cattle and their incomes.

Without it Merchants will have to raise prices to all of us or give away to the mail order houses who pay no Wisconsin taxes.

Without it, Wisconsin Factories will be handicapped in their fight for trade in other states as well as our own.

One way to protect our Wisconsin prosperity is to Keep the Personal Property Offset

It is the stabilizer and protects the producer.

Wisconsin does not need Taxes But more Economy and Common Sense in Government.

FARM AND FACTORY MUST PROSPER TOGETHER

GOVERNOR DOESN'T KNOW POLITICS BUT HE KNOWS ALASKA

Time Worn Precedent Ignored
by Coolidge Appointment of Executive

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington — Six weeks ago a long-legged, muscular young man locked up his desk in the office of the United States General Land Office at Anchorage, Alaska, and started for Washington to make his annual report on Alaskan affairs to his chief in the Interior Department.

He left Alaska simply as a government "field agent," traveling on routine business.

Next week this same young man will catch a boat northward bound out of Seattle.

Instead of heading his course direct to his station at Anchorage, however, he will head for Juneau, capital of Alaska and seat of the territorial government.

There he will pay his respects to Governor Scott C. Bone and be shown the ropes in the governor's office and the "executive mansion."

For in his portfolio the returning field clerk will carry a commission signed by President Coolidge, designating him as governor of Alaska.

After giving his future job the "once over," he will return to Anchorage and his work as field agent until June, when Governor Bone's four-year term expires.

After that he will be "Governor Parks."

George Alexander Parks, same being the full name of this vigorous, athletic chap who sought—and found —his fortune in the far north, scarcely realizes yet just what has happened to him.

Territorial governors usually are politicians. They are chosen because of party service.

Bone, for instance, was in charge of Republican publicity in the Harding campaign and had previously done party service as editor of a Republican "organ."

Parks doesn't know politics. He never was a member of any local or state committee.

He never helped in organization or booster work in any campaign.

He never was a delegate to a party convention or a candidate for any office.

How, then, does he qualify for one of the choicest plums on the presidential patronage tree?

Simply because while he may not know politics he does know Alaska. As a mining engineer and government field agent he has been over the whole territory.

He knows its people and their problems. His 17 years in Alaska has made that country "home" to him, and where a man's home is there his heart is.

Personally, Parks supplies a most interesting contrast to the usual executive appointee. Here is no neatly groomed, nicely maneuvered, soft-muscled supplicant of the big counter.

His ruddy face, roughened by the bite of Alaskan winds, is lean and strong. His six feet of frame carries no ounce of surplus fat.

The miles he has munched in mukluks and furs have given him a powerful swinging stride that seems out of place on Washington pavements.

Parks is still a bachelor, at 42, Alaska has been his only love.

Born in Denver and educated at the Denver School of Mines, mining work first took him to Alaska in 1908. The "states" have been too tame for him ever since.

STAGE And SCREEN

'SUNDOWN' VIVID FILM OF THE MODERN WEST

"Sundown," First National's long-expected drama of the West, which may prove to be the most pretentious effort of that company's own production units, was adapted from an original story written by Earl Hudson, production manager of First National.

Its story is laid in the present day, and it unfolds the dramatic story of the passing of the Old West before the advance of civilization. This is, incidentally, current history, since the encroachment on the unfenced ranges of the Southwest recently caused American cattlemen to unite their herds and drive them across the Rio Grande into Mexico, and it was these scenes which were filmed by First National to be incorporated in "Sundown." Never again will such huge herds be seen in the United States. More than quarter of a million head of cattle will be seen winding their way in a huge line half a mile wide in this forthcoming production.

Bessie Love, Roy Stewart and Hobart Bosworth head the cast of "Sundown," which will be shown at the Elks Theatre tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday.

CHAMPIONSHIP AUTO
'THE SPEED SPOOK'

When "The Speed Spook," featuring Johnny Hines, comes to the Neenah Theatre Mon. and Tuesday, Orpheum Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, patrons will be treated to one of the most unusual automobile races ever filmed on the screen. The entire racing sequence was filmed at the famous 250-mile international auto classic at the Altoona Speedway last June, which was the cynosure of all racing enthusiasts. Pictured in these scenes the racing fan will view these speed spooks going at the phenomenal rate of 114 1/2 miles per hour, a new world's speed record. Every bit of the race was filmed so that when "The Speed Spook" is thrown on the screen of the Elks Theatre patrons will be able to view one of the greatest automobile races in the history of the sport.

DOROTHY MACKAIL DOES FINE
ACTING IN STORY OF GREAT SOCIAL PROBLEM
"What Shall I Do?" the Frank E. Woods production playing at the New Bijou Theatre Today and Tuesday is our idea of an excellent photoplay. It has that pleasant combination of pathos and humor woven about a theme that has a real message and a story replete with human interest.

In the story "What Shall I Do?" the hero, Don McLean, stepson of a wealthy manufacturer, has been posing as a poor boy in order to succeed "on his own." He marries Jeanie Andrews, the little cashier of a cheap restaurant and finds himself keeping a double secret. He does not tell his mother of his marriage or his wife of his true identity.

One day he is struck down by a motor truck and he loses completely the knowledge of that part of his life which he has kept secret. He has no recollection at all of his wife and baby. Jeanie is suddenly confronted with the problem of supporting herself and her baby. This and the fact that her husband does not recognize her when she finds him makes her desperate. It all comes right in the end, of course, but it makes you realize as it is meant to do, the seriousness of the problem that hundreds of young mothers, like Jeanie, are called upon to face.

Dorothy Mackail is splendid as the little mother. By this picture, she firmly establishes her reputation as an emotional actress.

DISMISS ARSON CASE, SLANDER SUIT TO FOLLOW

McClone, Exonerated, Threatens to Sue State Fire Marshal

A slander suit is likely to develop from the Michael McClone arson case that was dismissed by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Monday morning. The preliminary examination failed to reveal evidence to convict McClone of the charge of hiring Bernard Murray a 14-year-old boy to set his store and residence on fire last October. It was decided by the judge in dismissing the complaint. On the other hand, it was testified that a fire was burning in the fields north of the property that was destroyed. State's witnesses admitted that they had smelled the stum fire and that a wind was blowing from that direction.

Attorney Joseph Martin, representing the defendant, asked leave to introduce witnesses for the defense. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murray, parents of the boy accused, and F. W. Reiser, Bear Creek banker, testified that three of the state's witnesses who accused McClone of arson had been drunk the night of the fire. These were William A. Greenwald, deputy fire marshal, Edward Loewe and Theodore Wegener.

The Murray boy and his parents testified that Murray signed a statement that he had fired the building because of threats by Greenwald. The boy was taken down the road from his home and ordered to "confess" he started the fire or go to jail. The boy badly frightened, made the statement.

Oscar Wilson testified that McClone had offered to pay him $600 if he would burn the buildings. He said he was offered $100 down, the remaining $500 to be paid after the fire. The question of spite was raised in the cross-examination, for it was testified that Wilson had been turned out as a tenant for failure to pay his rent. An attempt also was made to discredit the testimony of another state's witness, Howard Spaulding, the tenant at the time of the fire whose household goods were destroyed and were not protected by insurance.

A civil suit for damages resulting from destruction of character will be started against Greenwald, Loewe, Wilson, Spaulding and Wegener, it was intimated Monday.

Bernard Murray, who was alleged to have set fire to the buildings, also was exonerated.

Girl Gets Record Term For Bootlegging "Moon"

EDNA BOND

Canton, O.—Edna Bond, a little mountain girl of West Virginia, is serving the longest sentence on record for bootlegging.

Seven years and a fine of $6,000 was the sentence imposed on Edna by a judge who told her that he would make her an example for the other bootleggers of the mountains.

Working out the fine at a rate of 80 cents a day, Edna will remain in prison 35 years.

But club women are being interested in Edna's case and they probably will ask President Coolidge to pardon her.

Should the president decline, an appeal will be made to national board of parole which can act after the girl has served 14 more months of her sentence.

CHILDREN CALM AT SCHOOL FIRE

Roof of Black Creek Graded School Is Damaged by Small Blaze

A fire broke out in the graded school of Black Creek Monday morning while the pupils were in school, but caused no great amount of damage. Sparks from the chimney ignited the roof and burned a part of it, but the blaze was soon extinguished by the village volunteer fire department.

Excellent order was maintained by the teachers, and the pupils responding to the fire signal soon had the building emptied. Many of the children thought they were merely going through the regular fire drill, and were not aware of the fire.

THREE MILLION RATS SUCCUMB IN LONDON EXTERMINATION WAR

By Associated Press

London.—London is minus 3,000,000 rats that formed a large section of the rodent population last year. The merciless assaults of a rejuvenated city and the ardor of several hundred professional rat-catchers are responsible.

In the war days, when all of London's rat catchers changed their ultimate object from the rat to the German pests multiplied unhampered and after overrunning their natural haunts in the poorer sections of the city bordering on the river eventually infested the older stores and office buildings in the city and West End. Like many other evils which were rooted in the war it has taken several years of post-war effort to again get them under control.

Extensive building operations which are being undertaken involving the tearing down of many of the city's old buildings, has robbed the intruders of their abodes. The newer brick fire-proof structures taking their place offer no asylum to the wandering rat. During the destruction of a row of buildings in Regent Street the rat-catchers of the city of Westminster were kept busy several weeks chasing and killing rats as they ran from the condemned building into the streets and alleys. The rat-catcher and his assistants sent in a bill to the city council for the deaths of 1752 rats and they were paid a shilling for each body.

The activities of the municipal rat-catchers have almost rid the shopping district of rats. Incidental to their official labors the rat-catchers have exterminated water-bugs and wood-bugs which for centuries infested the old buildings and stores of London. With the substitution of brick and mortar the beetle lost his subsistence and gradually withdrew to more fruitful places. The water-bugs, however, have been eliminated by a new liquid army service in India. The liquid is only sprayed about the pipes and drains, but it has such potency that one whiff is sufficient to kill a bug. In less than three years it has been possible to entirely rid the London area of this pest.

Lack of other employment has turned several hundred men into rat-catchers who are mostly employed along the river fronts and in the factories and shops. There are about 300 of these men and they have destroyed about a million and a half rats during the last year. The rat catching corps of the London boroughs and a host of volunteer householders have accounted for the other million and a half. It cost nearly £700,000 to war on the rats during the last year.

USE TRADE BASIS IN VOCATION SCHOOL

Inspection by Heilig Shows Green Bay Classes Sell Products

The thing that makes Green Bay vocational school different from others in this part of the state is that it is organized on a commercial basis, according to H. K. Heilig director of Appleton vocational school, who attended an inspection meeting of vocational school directors of this section of the state at the Green Bay school Friday. The morning was spent in visiting the shops and classes. A dinner was served by the domestic-science department at noon and a discussion on the organization, text books and curriculum of the home school was held with several of the teachers as leaders.

The cooking department takes orders for pies, cakes and cookies and the school delivers them to all parts of the city, Mr. Heilig said. The same is true with standard types of sewing and all emphasis is placed on production with the educational features a byproduct. There are certain advantages in this, one of which is that the students become accustomed to factory production methods.

A department organized on a commercial basis which is popular with the students and a worthy addition to the curriculum is the hair dressing and manouring department, Mr. Heilig said.

Directors were present from Green Bay, Marinette, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Appleton.

VENTURESOME YOUTH LAND IN RICH ANCESTRAL HALLS

London.—From a poky little cabin aboard a tramp steamer to the luxury of a Jacobean mansion, was the quick change of circumstances experienced recently by the 17-year-old Earl of Suffolk. The earl had been knocking about the world in the streamer, Mount Stuart, sharing the hard life and food of sailors for about 18 months when the death of the old earl was announced. The young man's ship had just arrived at Nantes with a cargo of nitrate from South America, and he immediately said goodbye to his shipmates and hurried to the family seat, Charlton House, near Malmesbury.

People in the district are wondering whether the young earl will settle down to society's ways, or whether the travel temperament inherited from his late American mother, a daughter of the late Louis Letter, of Chicago, will lure him away to fresh adventures.

NEW PHONE RATES PROVIDE $17,100 MORE REVENUE

COMMISSION SAYS HIGHER TELEPHONE RATE JUSTIFIED

Increase in Operating Costs and in Taxes Make More Revenue Imperative

One-party business line, $5.50 a month.
Two-party business line, $4.50 a month.
One-party residence line, $2.75 a month.
Two-party residence line, $2.25 a month.
Four-party residence line, $2 a month.

Those are the rates which Appleton telephone subscribers will be required to pay after Mar. 1, as a result of a decision of the Wisconsin railroad rate commission with respect to the Wisconsin Telephone company's request for an increase in rates for the Appleton exchange.

The rates allowed represent an increase over the present ones, but are lower than those asked for by the telephone company, except in the case of the four-party lines, on which the lowest rates prevail.

The company proposed a rate of $7 in place of the present rate of $4.50 on one-party business lines; $6 in place of $3.50 on two-party business lines; $3 instead of $2.50 on one-party residence lines; $2.50 instead of $2 on two-party residence lines; $2 instead of $1.75 on four-party residence lines.

ENGAGE ATTORNEYS

The largest increases were planned for the business lines, which make the greatest use of the telephone.

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce engaged Attorney Homer Benton to represent the business men in the rate hearing. The city of Appleton was represented by A. C. Bosser, city attorney.

Several other cities are affected by the new schedule of rates announced by the commission, namely, Hudson, Janesville, South Milwaukee and Lima Center. All of these cities in addition to Green Bay were represented either by city attorneys, or counsel for commercial clubs, or both, at the hearings held at the various centers.

A hearing on the subject was conducted by the commission in Appleton on Oct. 14, 1924, but in view of the fact that the exhibits presented by the telephone company did not support its claim for higher rates were insufficient, the hearing was continued at Madison this month, at which Attorney Benton and Bosser were again present.

ENTITLED TO RAISE

In the decision published Friday and signed by Commissioners Lewis E. Gettle, Adolph Kanneberg and A. R. McDonald, the commission declared that the Appleton exchange was entitled to an increase in the gross revenue on account of increases in taxes. The Wisconsin Telephone company, like other public utilities, pays taxes on the amount of its gross receipts. These amounted to over $11,000 last year for the Appleton exchange.

The company's request that it be allowed a return of 7 per cent for depreciation reserve was disallowed. Instead of this rate, the commission allowed a rate of about 4 per cent.

The book values, as submitted by the company for each respective exchange, were accepted as fair values, with the exception of correction at the Appleton exchange to exclude property used by the Appleton district exchange.

The amount of the Milwaukee General Investment including land, buildings and fixtures, are used jointly for all state exchanges, and were regarded as a proper item to include in the rate bases. Since telephone rentals are billed in advance, and as the Western Electric company has adequate stock of materials and supplies in Milwaukee which the company draws on in lieu of carrying its own stock, no additional allowance for capital was considered necessary.

FIX BOOK VALUE

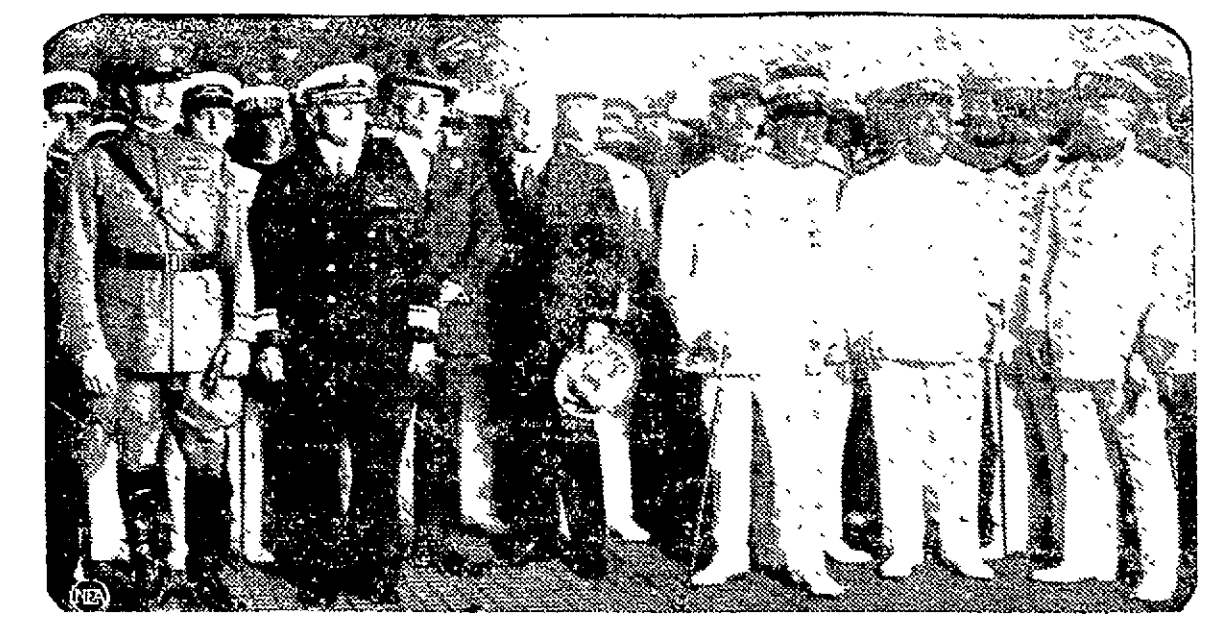

In establishing a rate basis for the Appleton exchange, the commission acknowledged the Jan. 1, 1924, book value of the exchange as $532,989.30, the book value for the year at $563,549.82. Deducting $65,978.73 for depreciation, plant and adding district exchange pro-rata, $84,401, for the Milwaukee pro-rata, the commission established a rate base of $552,374.09, in which amount an 8 per cent return would be $44,189.92.

The commission fixed the following requirements for depreciation to be charged against the operating expense, based upon the average property and plant value for the 11 months ending Nov. 30, 1924:

Exchange service revenue, $140,377.65; miscellaneous operating revenue, $2,846.99; non-operating revenue, $1,358.21, or a total revenue of $144,582.85. Under expenses it listed $23,837.51 for maintenance before depreciation, $37,171.20 for traffic, $14,516.21 for commercial expenses, $3,554.93 for general expense, $14.00 for rent, $6,025.89 charged against license revenue, $22.50 for uncollectible operating revenue, $11,184.54 for taxes, or a total expense of $98,306.80. The balance available for depreciation return is $47,527.12. The average plant value for the year including the Milwaukee pro-rata was $597,950.82. This makes a total of 8.7 per cent available for depreciation return.

After making allowances for tax increase, the commission concluded that the Appleton exchange deserved an increase of $17,100 in gross revenue.

Miss Mary Conlin of Dear Creek, is visiting at the Greeley home.

Martin Falk of Nichols, worked on the telephone line here Tuesday.

Mrs. H. F. Schroeder visited her daughter at Appleton over the weekend.

The company estimated that it required $43,902.

DISAGREE ON FEE

In order to make up the difference between the actual receipts and the necessary revenue, the company declared that the increase should be sufficient to cover an increase in taxes and 4 1/2 per cent to the American Telephone and Telegraph company. The first claim was considered justified, but the commission disagreed on the second argument for 4 1/2 per cent of the gross receipts to be paid the American Telephone and Telegraph company for furnishing transmitters and receivers and advisory and professional services. There was no evidence presented to show what the cost to the larger corporation for this service is, it was pointed out.

The commission considered only three causes for a change in rates. An increase in wages, an increase in the cost of property needed to replace worn-out property or make additions and an increased cost of doing business as the volume of business the size of the exchange and the accompanying complexity of construction and service arrangement becomes greater. The American Telephone and Telegraph company might have a just claim to the last argument, it was admitted but it furnished no proof on this increased cost of doing business.

No Mail If Numbers Are Not Put Up

It will be "the tight street number or no mail" after April 1, according to the ultimatum issued by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. The United States postal department at Washington has given instructions that residents who neglect to attach the new and correct street numbers are to be given 30 days' notice and if after the expiration of 30 days the order has not been complied with, the delinquent's carrier service is to be withdrawn and mail transferred to general delivery. The same notice applies to business institutions. It was announced The withdrawal of mail will take effect on April 1.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSED BECAUSE OF CONTAGION

Prevalence of different forms of contagion has caused considerable inconvenience in rural schools this winter. Many a district board has been confronted with the problem of either closing the school or ordering that all pupils be vaccinated. Several districts harassed by small pox enforced the vaccination order, while one district even paid the costs of vaccinating the pupils. According to county health officials the policy of merely closing a school without or-

COMMISSION CAUTIOUS WITH NEW EXPRESS RATES

Madison—Approval of proposed new express rates, tending generally toward an advance, has been declined by the state railroad commission and an investigation will be made it was announced. Date for public hearing will be set "as early as consistent," the commission stated.

Application for authority to file on one day's notice, effective March 1, new schedules of first and second class rates and terminal and switching charges between and at all points in Wisconsin was presented to the commission by the American Railway Express company. The proposed changes conform with an order of the interstate commerce commission of feeling interstate traffic.

The Wisconsin commission, it announced, "understands from a partial and necessarily hurried check of the proposed rates that while there are some reductions from rates at present in effect, that the general trend is toward an advance, particularly in the central, eastern, and southern part of the state. This taken in connection with obvious errors and inconsistencies in the proposed rate structure makes it necessary that a careful and thorough investigation be entered into, giving all parties interested opportunity to be advised and heard."

dering vaccination is not advisable, since the pupils are just as apt to become exposed to the disease upon the reopening of school as before. It is pointed out. Scarlet fever also has been the cause of closing several schools in the county this winter.

THE RECOGNITION OF GOODNESS

Read Lk 4:8-14 Text: 4:34
Know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God

MEDITATION—There is no force in the world more powerful than goodness nor more surely recognized. An evil person will constantly recognize a good one. We do not have to worry about our good being known. It makes itself known. It cannot be hid. As the light sends its rays far through the darkness, so do kindly deeds and good lives exert a beneficent influence far beyond our thought or expectation. The world is not to be won by science, theology or wealth, but by simple goodness, brotherhood in God the Father

Envy Foils Success In Love Affair

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Whoever named Kitty was a prophet. She surely is what we women call "catty."

But you'd never guess it unless you happened to see her when some thing had angered her. Then she shows her claws.

Ordinarily she has the softest, sweetest manners in the world. And she's as beautiful as a big, glistening house-cat, with her sleepy, topaz-colored eyes and her slow grace.

I never knew that Kitty was jealous until a couple of years ago, when she had a house guest from the south. Laurel Lee was a girl whom Kitty had met in Georgia one winter.

She wasn't pretty, but she had the charm of a well-bred southern girl of good family. Her one claim to beauty was a mass of curly, red-gold hair that she wore in a great gleaming puff on the crown of her head. It gave her distinction when every other girl in sight was shingled and marcelled.

Toward the end of Laurel's visit Kitty gave a big party for her. The house was filled with flowers and candles was stretched over the carpets for dancing. And Kitty was the belle of her own party.

But J. noticed that Dan Collier wasn't paying her much attention that night. He danced every other dance with little Laurel, and between times he strolled out on to the porch for a cigarette, and watched her through the open windows.

Ever since Kitty had been 15 Dan Collier had been her particular knight. She ragged and bullied him, but he apparently liked it. Every one of us wondered why they hadn't married long ago.

Presently I noticed that Kitty was sitting on the stairs watching Dan as he watched Laurel. Her black eyebrows were drawn together in a frown.

The supper dance came and Dan and Laurel danced it together. Kitty's jealous eyes followed his dark head and her shining one as they whirled around the big room.

The supper tables were little ones, each set for four people. Kitty and Ned Brady followed Laurel and Dan to their table. It happened to be next to the ones where I was sitting.

Ned Brady thinks he's a wit. I heard him say that he wished all the girls weren't bobbed. It made them all look alike from a distance, and it was so hard to find one's dancing partner unless she had freckles or a squint, he declared.

"My girl doesn't look like anybody else, even from a distance," said Dan looking at Laurel with a smile in his eyes. "And she's no little blond, either."

"Is that so?" That's all you know about it," said Kitty with a nasty laugh. Laurel looked at her with hurt surprise.

"You know I've never touched my hair. Kitty. It's always been this color," she cried.

"Is that so?" Kitty repeated with that cruel smile on her face. "It looks a lot redder to me than it used to a few years ago. But why worry about it?" Girls henna their hair these days if they want to. . . . movie actresses and everybody."

Laurel smiled, put one hand up and smoothed her bright hair back from her forehead.

"You can see for yourself that my hair hasn't been dyed," she said to Dan. If it had been, the roots would have grown out darker than the rest of it. . . .

"Of course, it's not dyed. That's absurd, and Kitty knows it," said Dan, smiling. He and Laurel didn't wait for coffee, but left the dining room together.

The next morning Laurel went home. After that Kitty made several attempts to recapture Dan.

And the other day she told me, with a disappointed smile on her face, that Dan and Laurel are to be married next June and that Laurel has asked her to be maid of honor.

If tiebacks are used on long curtains, they should not be any more conspicuous in color or design than the curtain itself.

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

The choice of a vehicle is a matter of great importance. The folding car, which may be taken on the street cars, permits mother and baby to go out many times when it would not otherwise be possible. The great convenience of this car cannot be denied; but such cars should be used only for the purpose for which they are intended, namely, to convey the baby short distances, and not as pleasure vehicles; nor should the baby be left to sit in one of these small cars for any great length of time.

The best vehicle for ordinary use about the home is one which is at least 2 feet high. It should have room for the baby, with the necessary wrappings, in any position, and a cover that can be readily adjusted to secure the needed protection; it should have strong, well-balanced springs, and stand squarely on four wheels. For the baby who sits up, a safety strap which fastens about his waist gives greater protection than the ordinary carriage strap.

Carriage outings which are, at best, not an unmixed advantage to the baby, often afford the only available means for giving him the outdoor air. The lack of exercise and the more or less rigid position maintained for considerable periods of time is wearisome. Also it is no doubt true that a baby sent out in charge of another child or some person not altogether competent to judge of his comfort is often neglected. A more wholesome and natural place to give the airing is in the yard or on the porch, where he can be under the mother's supervision.

WHEN NOT TO TAKE THE BABY OUT

No baby should go out in below-zero weather. When the temperature is lower than 20 degrees above zero (except during the height of bright days), or when there is a heavy storm in progress, or a high wind blowing quantities of dust about, it is best to give the baby his airing indoors or on a protected porch. Dress him as for going out, open all the windows wide, and let him remain in the fresh air for some time. Very young or delicate babies require much warmth and must be well covered to protect them from chill. A baby under 2 months of age should not be taken out in severe weather.

To The Mothers of Appleton

If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health" call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO THE GAY LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE THE SECRET DRAWER

I wonder if you have noticed, Little Marquise, that I haven't written very often lately. It is because when I am far away from the little secret drawer which is the resting place of my communications, I always feel as though I should not write for fear those very sacred documents would fall into less sympathetic possessions than yours.

However now I am quite sure I shall soon be back in my apartment packing up to return here and I shall put this letter in that drawer where it belongs.

The resting place is getting a little overcrowded, consequently, some of my effusions will soon have to be weeded out and placed in a safety deposit vault, to be opened only after my death or some time when I feel, as you did, that all my secrets must be burned.

I have come up into the attic of my old home Little Marquise, to be alone, and once more to get my mind arranged and my life ordered. Mother is sleeping under the care of her old maid, who has administered an opiate to her. She insisted upon sitting up all night alone with her dead. She would not let any one, not even me, stay with her.

"I will have him such a little while, Leslie," she said as she raised her face to mine with a pathetic smile. "Let me stay with him tonight. Tomorrow I shall take up life without him, but tonight dear child let me have him all to myself."

I wish, little Marquise, that you had left some of those letters, in which I know your heart had spoken, I am sure that when your king died, you could not mourn him, you had to place in the secret drawer some memento of your grief. Poor little, gay little Marquise, you had to smile outwardly when your heart was breaking; that was the great penance for your sin.

That one letter which you left to me who found it in the secret drawer of the old desk, told me much more than was written on its pages. Yours was the most sorrowful, the most tragic of writings, and some way when I saw my mother enter that silent room as though it were her own particular right, my thought went back to you, dear little Marquise, and the words that you wrote. "They tell me I am going to die, and so I am taking back my confidences and laying them one by one on the fire, for no one, not even those who love me best, may know as these yellowed sheets of paper might tell, that the gay little Marquise was beloved by a king."

They had not known your joy, Little Marquise. They must not know your sorrow. You had to bear it alone. Under this guise, nothing is more tragic than Death, when he comes to bear away the one you love.

In that great moment after my father's death when Jack took me in his arms, I know there was perfect sympathy between us, all thought of living my life without my husband, of not being able if I should be left as is my mother, to say, "Tonight, let me have him all to myself!" Had completely gone out of my mind. Consequently, when my thoughts went back to you, and I remembered that you had had no right to mourn, that you were still called "the gay little Marquise," while all the while your very soul was clamoring to be called "the sorrowful Marquise." I knew that my place was with Jack, whatever the years might bring. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

Adventures Of The Twins

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE SNOW MAN

No one saw Nancy and Nick and the Fairy Queen riding away on Two Spots, the butterfly.

At least Betty and Betty didn't. They were too busy. They were trying to lift Mr. Snow Man onto their sled and haul him up the hill into the house.

It was a difficult task. Even with the aid of a shovel and some sharp sticks, the best they could do was to move him in pieces.

But by and by, there he was standing on the sled almost as good as new.

His little pebble eyes twinkled happily although they crossed a bit from knocking about. His arms were on backward, and not quite both of his legs had gone with him.

But what cared he?

He was getting his wish. He was going to live in a real house with real people and he'd be alone any more with the moon and the stars.

"What on earth are you doing children?" cried their mother from the porch when she saw them coming.

"We are just bringing Mr. Snow Man in," said Betty and Betty happily.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Breakfast—Orange juice, boiled rice with raisins, thin cream, munched lamb on toast, creamed potatoes, rye muffins, currant jelly, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Oyster bisque, toasted crackers, jellied tomato salad, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, stuffed figs, milk, tea.

Dinner—Veal steak en casserole, potatoes in piquant sauce, parsnip fritters, spinach salad, baked custard, chocolate cake, grained bread, milk, coffee.

Children under school age should not be served the dinner meat or the parsnip fritters. If a few of the potato mables are cooked separately for them and served with butter they will be perfectly satisfied and run no risk of indigestion.

OYSTER BISQUE

One quart oysters, 2 cups water or liquor in which fowl was cooked, 1 1/2 cups bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 1 slice onion, 1 large blade celery, 2 sprigs parsley, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups milk salt and pepper, few grains nutmeg.

Pick over and wash oysters. Cut off shells and liquid muscles and chop finely. Put the soft part of the oysters in a cold place until needed. Put chopped oysters bread crumbs, onion, celery cut in small pieces, parsley, stock or water and nutmeg in saucepan and simmer for half an hour. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Rub the sewed oysters through a strainer. Bring to the boiling point, add prepared milk, reserved oysters, salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point, but do not let boil.

JELLIED TOMATO SALAD

Two cups cottage cheese, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 4 cloves 1 small onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 3/4 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon pepper-corns.

Rub cottage cheese through a ricer and season well with salt and paprika. Simmer tomatoes, cloves, pepper-corns, onion cut in thin slices, sugar and salt for 20 minutes. Strain through a puree strainer. There should be two cups. Reheat to the boiling point and stir in gelatin softened in cold water. Let stand until beginning to set. Fold in prepared cottage cheese and turn into a mold. Place in a cold place to chill and become firm and serve on a bed of lettuce with French dressing.

ply. "He wrote us a letter saying that he was lonely. We're bringing him into the house."

"No," said their mother, "take him into the garage. I am afraid he is a little damp and wouldn't be good for carpets. A stone floor's the thing. He can't spoil that."

So into the garage they hauled their friend.

"Well," said he to himself. "At least it's warm! And I have a roof over my head! And perhaps the children will stay and play with me."

They left him on the sled, taking no chances of breaking the rest of him.

"Now Mr. Snow Man," said Betty. "We hope you are happy. We'll pretend you are Old King Cole and we'll have a party."

They brought out Buster, the new fuzzy Christmas puppy-dog, and all the Christmas toys they could carry.

"We'll show you how everything works," they said. "It is much more fun than a pipe and a bowl and fiddlers three. Just watch this train!"

Mr. Snow Man had the time of his life. "This is what I call living," he kept saying over and over to himself. "Toys and dogs and children, or I should say—children and dogs and toys are much better than the moon and stars. Tum tum tum! I'm so happy—and so warm—and so sort of squishy inside! It must be my heart. I always knew I had a soft heart."

After while the children were called in to get dressed.

They took the toys and the fuzzy puppy dog along. The Snow Man was left alone on the sled in the garage.

"We'd better go and see how the Snow Man is getting along," said the Fairy Queen to the Twins. "Perhaps he's sorry by this time that he made his wish."

So off they went the three of them on the blue butterfly and soon they came to the garage where the Snow Man was. The door was open a little and they went in.

There was nothing left but a little pile of snow out of which two little merry eyes looked. They seemed to say, "We've been very happy."

"Well, my dears," said the Fairy Queen, "he was a good sport anyway. He knew what he wanted and stuck right to it."

Safety Hints

GASOLINE IS EXPLOSIVE

At an ordinary temperature gasoline gives off vapor. Mixed with air this vapor is explosive. Frequent friction of clothing cleaned with gasoline will generate a spark and cause an explosion. Gasoline should be kept in a garage or shed. It is highly dangerous.

Feature Apron

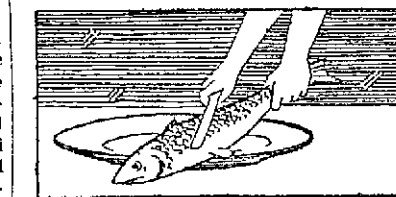

This frock owes its chic to the embroidered apron which is arranged so neatly across the front. Likewise to the youthful collar line which is a fold of the material standing up on the slightly round neckline. The material is black satin backed crepe and the embroidery is in red and white.

Household Hints

TO REMOVE SCALES

The easiest way to remove scales from a fish is to dip the fish in boiling water and scrape with a dull knife, beginning at the tail.

LESSONS WORK

A square board with castors on each corner is excellent to have for holding your mail when scrubbing, or the garbage pail when you wish to keep it under the table. It is easily moved and saves unnecessary lifting.

GOOD FLAVOR

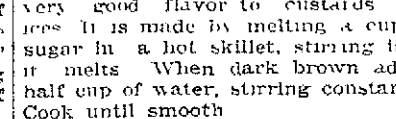

Soup of burnt sugar makes a very good flavor to custards and ice. It is made by melting a cup of sugar in a hot skillet, stirring it as it melts. When dark brown add a half cup of water, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth.

USE COFFEE

A cupful of coffee is a substitute for lard in a dark cake, and adds to the richness.

BAKED BEANS

Baked beans, to be properly prepared in the best Bostonian manner, should be baked in an earthen pot with a cover.

FASHION HINTS

OSTRICH POMPONS

Pompoms of glycerined ostrich are used very effectively on the new shapes being perched at very small angles.

COLLAR AND TIE

There is a tendency to make the collar and tie a continuation of the frock now instead of something that is separate and removable.

YELLOW FOR BLOND

A more lovely evening frock for a blond can scarcely be imagined than one of yellow velvet, discretely embroidered in gold.

FOR EVENING WEAR

Long strings of pink or pale blue pearls are novelties that add interest to an evening costume.

NEW BRACELETS

Bracelets of rhinestones and jet mounted chokerboard fashion and supported by silver settings are very stunning indeed.

WRAP NEGLIGES

Wraparound negligees fit the figure very closely and have wide bands of marlborough.

Wide Variety Of New Colored Spring Hosiery

The 66 colors selected by the official hosiery committee appointed by the Textile Color Card Association of the United States and the National Association of Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers as the standard shades for the hosiery industry have just been released.

Included in the collection are nine browns, 19 grays and 16 shades variously designated as beige, nude, fawn and similar tones. The blue, biscuit and tortoise class comprise 24 shades, while 15 colors are classified as evening shades and 10 for sport. The following names have been chosen for purposes of standardization:

Atmosphere, mauve, French nude, bluish sunburn, champagne, crush, gravel, grain, beige, acorn, bran, toast, dark leather, almond, tobrisk, cinnamon, sunset, burnt, Aztec, biscuit, sandalwood, wendover, tan, russet, brown, Russian, elf, medium brown, cocoa brown, dark brown, Cordovan, new bronze, African, pearl, moon light, plating, rock, zinc, stone gray, medium gray, No. 31, toupe, cannon, pummetal, cerise, royal purple, orange, peach, fair blue, golf green, Copenhagen, mandarin, navy blue silver, cardinal, gold, flesh, light pink, pink, peach, orchid, sky blue, turquoise, lavender, yellow, maize, apple green, Nile, jadeite.

Health Hints

GET COMPETENT ADVICE

Do not take the advice of a neighbor on how to care for the baby. Mrs. Mann was told. For what has been good for one baby may not be good for another.

It is hoped that the baby will be breast fed, but if by any chance this is impossible, a doctor, or a baby health clinic is the only safe place for advice.

Sometimes it is hard to teach a child to like some of the foods recommended for him, after he has grown old enough to take food other than milk, but the child should not be permitted to grow finicky about his food. To teach him requires patience.

and it may take years to establish habits that may save trouble later on.

Mother-love is far-reaching. It should be farseeing, and be willing to insist on some unpleasantness now for the sake of the future happiness of the child.

New foods should be introduced into the diet slowly. The child's stomach is no more prepared to digest heavy food than his muscles are prepared to do the heavy work of a man.

Therefore be careful of such heavy foods as fried potatoes, doughnuts, sausage, pork, spiced pickles, rich poultry and cake, even after the child is old enough to attend school.

APPLETON HIGH QUINT DEFEATS OSHKOSH, 14 TO 9

Victory At Sawdust City Raises Hopes For District Meet

Reetz and Kneip Replace Lost Veterans in Good Shape and Orange Stages Comeback

Appleton high school Saturday staged a strong comeback after the loss of two regulars from its basketball lineup and with two new men defeated Oshkosh, 14 to 9, on the Sawdust City court. This gives the Grange school a chance to fight for second place in the valley conference Friday when they meet Fond du Lac here in the final game of the season. Furthermore, it brightens their hopes for the district tournament scheduled for here on Mar. 12, 13 and 14.

Reetz and Kneip, the former playing his first high school game, replaced Courtney and Fraser without a fault and Reetz's playing featured the Orange contest. Bowly drove through the Oshkosh defense several times, dribbling the length of the floor to get a close shot, while Ashman, at center, followed up consistently and boosted the half through the hoop after one of his mates had missed a long shot.

At half time Oshkosh was in the lead, 3 to 2, but in the third quarter Appleton began to forge ahead and when that period was ended, the Orange was leading, 8 to 5.

Ashman and Kneip each made two baskets for Appleton. Bowly and Reetz each making one. Elmer Hahnke, Weisbrod and Krohn scored for Oshkosh, the two former with a basket and a freethrow each and Krohn with one fieldgoal. Weisbrod scored on a freethrow.

The lineup: Appleton—Oshkosh. R. P. Kneip..... Hanson R. F. L. E. Bowly..... Elmer L. F. C. Ashman..... Hahnke C. R. G. Reetz..... Weisbrod R. G. L. G. Solle..... Krohn L. G. Substitution—Pfeiffer for Solle. Referee, Eyler, Fond du Lac.

APPLETON WOMEN BOWL IN RACINE STATE TOURNAMENT

Prospects Are Bright for Womens State Tourney Here in 1925

Two teams will represent Appleton in the women's state bowling tournament at Racine Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Arcade Ladies and the Orange Squeeze will occupy the alleys there. Mrs. Al Jensen, captain of the Arcade Ladies left for Racine Monday to bid for the state tournament here in 1925 and prospects seem bright that this city would get it.

The average of the Arcade Ladies is approximately 2,100 to 2,200, and their lineup includes Mrs. J. Fries, Mrs. E. Bernhardt, Mrs. P. Abendroth, Mrs. A. Jensen, Mrs. A. Weisgerber, and Mrs. A. Gmeiner who will accompany the team to bid for the state. The following compose the Orange Squeeze: Miss E. Dunn, Miss V. Wentzlauff, Miss G. Schroeder, Miss M. Turner, and Miss S. Roudobush.

RUSSELL OF CHICAGO IS COMING ATHLETE

Chicago—University of Chicago seems to have a promising looking athlete in Russell, who made such a splendid showing in the recent dual with Indiana. Russell, by virtue of his sensational work against the Hoosiers, stacks up as one of the best all-around athletes Staggs has had in some seasons. His favorite events are the high jump, pole vault, shotput and hurdles. In the former he set a new record for Barlett gymnast by leaping 6 feet 4 13-16 inches. He cleared 11 feet 6 inches in the pole vault without being pressed and also garnered thirds in the shot and hurdle events. As a high jumper, many experts are touting him as a second Harold Osborne.

Brief Sketches Of Big Stars

MARTIN J. McMANUS
St. Louis Browns
Second Baseman
Born—Chicago, Ill., March 14, 1900.
Major League Career—Sold to Browns in 1920 by Tulsa of the Western League.
Outstanding Feats—Played in every game during 1922 and 1923. Drove in 94 runs in 1923 season. Batted .333 in 1924.

DETROIT TYGERS NEED GOOD SECOND BASEMAN

Manager Cobb of the Tigers is still after a good second baseman. This position has been a weak spot in the Detroit lineup for the past few seasons.

WED., ARMORY, $1000.00 CRYSTAL BALL

Johnson Has Good Record For 11 Years

Washington, D. C.—The greatest tribute to Walter Johnson's prowess as a pitcher can be found in the game's own column.

If a pitcher wins 20 ball games during the season's play he has had a most successful year. Johnson has turned the trick 11 times.

From 1910 to 1919, covering a period of 10 seasons, Johnson won 20 or more games every year. In six of the 10 years he won 25 or more games.

Johnson's best season was in 1913, when he turned in 36 victories and suffered only seven defeats, a most marvelous record. The year previous he won 32 games.

Winning 20 or more games for 10 consecutive seasons is a record of which few pitchers can boast.

BASSLER, DETROIT, HAD GREAT SEASON WITH BAT IN 1924

Tyger Catcher Hit .346 and Ranked Well Up in List of Averages

Detroit—Johnny Bassler, Detroit Tyger catcher, hit .346 in 1924. He ranked well up the list. Moreover, he clouted for a higher mark than a regular receiver in the American league has reached in some time.

Bassler's nifty work with the stick was one of the bright spots of the Cabbian attack. His ability to come through in a pinch helped win many games. He was without a doubt the best man on the club in this respect.

Last year was Bassler's fourth with the Tygers. He joined the club the same year Cobb took over the managerial reins. Away to a good start, Bassler has been improving right along. Many experts predict that within another year or so the Detroit-er will be termed the league's premier batsman.

Besides being a stellar batter, Bassler is a smart chap behind the plate. He is a student of batters; works his pitchers in a clever manner, and possesses a strong and accurate whip.

Bassler, like most catchers, is an especially slow runner. He loses many hits, little infield rollers, that faster men would beat out. They must be solid shots to the outfield for the Tyger to reach the initial bag.

CHOOSE TEAMS FOR DISTRICT TOURNAMENT ON MAR. 12, 13, 14

Appleton District Picks Same Teams That Played Here in 1924

Final preparations for the district basketball tournament here Mar. 12, 13 and 14 are well under way, the choice of teams that will participate having been made Saturday at a conference of officials of the district in Green Bay. Milwaukee—Announcement was made Saturday afternoon by George A. Chamberlain, principal of Riverside high school, that six high school teams had already been selected to compete in the Marquette district basketball tournament, March 11 to 14. To pick the other two, a special elimination series will be played at the Hilltop gym Saturday morning. March 7, Cudahy meeting Hartford at 10 a. m., and Beaver Dam tackling West Bend an hour later.

Those teams whose records this year were meritorious enough to warrant their choice without a playoff include: Oconomowoc, Racine, South Milwaukee, Waukesha, Wauwatosa and West Allis. The Wauwatosa Aggies, who won the Marquette meet last year and later won the consolation honors at the state tournament at Madison, after having lost in the first round to Superior, were not picked.

The Manitowoc and Whitewater district tourneys will be played over a period of three days, March 12 to 14, the following having been selected to battle at Manitowoc: Algoma, Kewaunee, Kiel, Luxemburg, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Sturgeon Bay and Two Rivers.

Five schools earned clear title to their selection to meet at Whitewater, Beloit, Evansville, Janesville, Madison Central and Milton Union, but six others will tangle in an elimination series first to decide the other three entries. They play on March 7, Edgerton meeting Stoughton, Elkhorn meeting Whitewater Normal High and Lake Geneva meeting Whitewater City High.

Marquette—The following teams were named to compete in the Marquette district basketball tourney by officials of the district late Saturday. Crivitz, East Green Bay, Oconto, Shawano, Gilett, Marinette, Swing, Oconto Falls.

Rhineland—Eight of the strongest teams in the Rhineland district will compete for cage honors here early in March. The following teams were named Saturday: Antigo, Eagle River, Merrill, Medford, Rhineland, Tomahawk, Wausau, Wausau.

Monroe—The eight teams to the point in the Monroe district high school basketball tournament March 12, 13 and 14 announced by Thomas R. Holyoke, tournament manager, are Argyle, Belleville, Monroe, Monticello, Mount Horeb, New Glarus, Oregon and Wisconsin High of Madison.

SHAWANO COPS, 22 TO 19, IN STEVENS POINT GAME

Stevens Point—Shawano high school Friday night defeated Stevens Point, 22 to 19, after a hard contest on the Stevens Point court. The visitors took the lead early in the game and kept it throughout the first half. Stevens Point took an 18 to 15 lead in the third quarter but in the final period the invaders again hit their stride and thus kept the Wisconsin River Valley conference lead with a perfect record.

J. Drawneck of Kaukauna and A. Selig of Appleton Monday night will cross cues in the Fox River valley pocket billiard tournament in the Carr, Hansen and Pindle parlors here. Each has played but one game thus far, both for losses. The cueists will be fighting for a chance to stay in the running, for the loser of Monday's match will have small chance to survive.

Will Attempt Comeback Former Cleveland Aces Will Occupy Spotlight During Coming Season

Four Former Cleveland Hurlers In Limelight

Sothoron, Coveleskie, Mails and Gregg Will Be Prominent in 1925 Season

Cleveland—Four former Cleveland pitchers will be more or less in the baseball spotlight when the 1925 curtain ascends.

They are Van Gregg and Stanley Coveleskie of Washington and Walter Mails and Allan Sothoron, St. Louis Cardinals. Each, in a broad sense of the word, is out to stage a "comeback."

Gregg, somewhere around the 40 mark in years, will be back in big time after an absence of several seasons. He was a star hurler in the majors some 12 or 15 years ago. Fact is, he was considered one of the best southpaws in the business. Then he slipped and of recent years has been hurling out in the Pacific Coast league.

Coveleskie, while he isn't "up from the minors," is, nevertheless, out to regain his old-time form. Covey, for the past few seasons has been going back. He figures, however, that with a change of scenery he will again pitchwinning ball. It has worked out that way in other cases.

Mails, after three seasons on the coast, will attempt to show some of the stuff that made him famous as a member of the Cleveland club in 1920. That year it will be recalled, Mails, after joining the Indians late in the race, copped seven straight games and virtually carried Cleveland to its first pennant. He also starred in the world series that fall. But he failed to live up to expectations. And ere the 1921 chase was half over, he had been shunted back to the minors. Now he is to get another trial.

Sothoron has played with several clubs. He was with Cleveland a couple of seasons back. From there, however, he caught on with the Cards, and, though only enjoying a fair degree of success, will be taken south again, Rickey still having faith in him.

The work of this quartet is certain to be watched with more than usual interest this season. For efforts to come back in any branch of endeavor seem to appeal and attract much attention.

BRENZEL ROLLS BIG SCORE TO WIN MEET

Kaukauna—Warren Brenzel copped first prize in the weekly sweepstakes bowling tournament conducted Saturday on Hilgenberg alleys. The number of bowlers entered has decreased each week and Saturday only 10 men participated. Plans are being made to hold a doubles tourney next Saturday in an effort to revive interest. Brenzel rolled scores of 211, 212 and 135, a total of 608 pins. Dr. Van Ellis, who copped first place three times in succession, was second with a total of 573 pins. Other scores were: Van Ellis 201 174, 198, 573; L. Ger. and 197, 206, 167, 570; H. Minkeberg 168, 168, 186, 522; A. Bayorgeson 154, 132, 124, 411; F. Hilgenberg 157, 208, 124, 544; W. HOW MANY RATS DO YOU FEED?

There are more rats than human beings. Each of us supports two or three of these pests. They are permanent, uninvited guests on our premises.

It costs the United States $200,000,000 a year to feed its rat population.

In return for our hospitality they waste our substance, bring us a choice assortment of diseases, and scatter filth.

We do little to combat them. Haphazard trapping and poisoning are not effective. The war against them must be systematic organized, scientific.

The Department of Agriculture has made an exhaustive study of this subject and has printed the results in a 24-page booklet with illustrations.

Send for this authoritative booklet and learn how to get rid of these annoying and destructive pests. There is no charge except two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

Ohio Takes Lead In Western Conference With Two Victories

Buckeyes Have Won Nine and Lost One, and Have but Two More Contests on Their Schedule

Chicago—Ohio State forged into the lead in the Western conference basketball championship race by registering two decisive victories last week, one over Northwestern university Monday, and the second over Chicago Saturday night. Illinois, undefeated in conference play before last week, suffered a serious relapse and Monday rests in second place, with hard competition ahead.

The Buckeyes have won nine games and lost one, and has but two more contests on their schedule. Indiana at Bloomington, Mar. 7, and Wisconsin at Columbus, Mar. 14. Indiana, now in third place, had been hitting a strong pace before being defeated by Purdue last Friday and may give the leaders a hard battle. The Hoosiers have won seven and lost three games, and a defeat by Ohio would put them out of the running for first place.

The Illini quintet, which won seven straight games before it struck the toboggan last week in two clashes, has a chance for first place if Ohio should lose both its remaining games, or a chance to tie for the championship if Ohio should win one and lose one. Illinois, however, will have to meet the awakened Purdue five in two of its remaining three contests, and Purdue, which had a mediocre standing a week ago, defeated Indiana and Wisconsin last week and advanced to fourth place. Indiana earlier in the week had humbled Illini.

Indiana would have to defeat Ohio and Michigan to have a chance to tie Ohio for final first honors. Purdue has four more games to play and like

DEER OF ANCIENT LINEAGE FLOURISH IN ENGLISH PARKS

Several Herds in Britain Go Back as Far as 400
Years, Is Claim

By Associated Press
London—Family history and family trees are by no means confined to the English aristocracy, there are several herds of deer in Great Britain whose records go back more than 400 years. The 1924 register of the Deer Herd Book Society of Great Britain, the social register of the animals, just published, gives a complete list of the ages and distinguishing marks of the herds.
The herd at Deen Park, Peterborough, which went into residence there more than 400 years ago, is the top notch of the unaltered blue blood of English herds. Among other deer ranking above the proletariat is the 800-year old herd of Lord Clifford, which has not mixed with other blood since 1872, and the herd of Lord Cobham, which has maintained its exclusiveness since 1785.
Sir Robert Hayley of Langley Park owns a herd of mixed deer which have been bred there since Queen Elizabeth used the park as a royal hunting ground. A thirteenth century mixed herd is owned by Lord Hastings, and the Dukes of Norfolk have maintained a herd on their estates in Norfolk for about 700 years.
Altogether there are about 140 privately owned herds in Great Britain, including three belonging to King George, but which do not rank with their royal master in the matter of pedigree. On some of the large estates of the Midlands as many as 400 deer are kept.

HOLLAND COMMUNISTS WANT COLONIES FREED

By Associated Press
The Hague, Holland.—The Dutch Communist party has issued a new program of action which, apart from the usual demands of an 8 hour day, the disbandment of army and navy and the recognition of the Russian Soviet republic, makes a specific demand for the "immediate and complete evacuation" of the Dutch colonial possessions.
The program urges also "sharp opposition to Holland's servile attitude towards British imperialism," advocates Holland's withdrawal from the League of Nations, and announces "war upon the Dawes plan."
A Batavia dispatch states that the Volksraad, the Dutch East Indian assembly has adopted a motion to close all schools in the colonial archipelago where communism is taught or propagated.

MENOMINEES FILE PROTESTS AGAINST ALLOTMENT PLAN

Fear Redmen Will Lose Their Heritage if U. S. Plan Is Carried Out

At council of the Menominee tribe held at Keshena, Wisconsin, recently, the Indians opposed the bill now pending in congress that would allot their lands under the provisions of the Onondaga allotment act. The bill has already passed the lower house and now is before the senate. The Indians have appealed not only to the department of the interior but are also asking their white neighbors to intercede with the Wisconsin senators on their behalf and beg them to vote against the bill. The Indian welfare division of the National Federation of Women's Clubs has already spoken in their behalf. The Indians point to the dispossessed Onondaga tribe as an example of what allotment has done.

The Stockbridge, Menominee and Onondaga in the state of Wisconsin, the council declared, once owned good lands in their reservation. Not long ago they had their lands allotted and now nearly all of them have lost their lands and are today wandering from place to place on the face of the earth homeless. We do not want to be like these Indians, therefore we do not want allotment.

There are about 2,000 Indians living on this reservation," he says, "some of whom, yes many of whom are highly educated. I am advised that these Indians have approximately $2000,000 to their credit with the government. I am advised further that this has been a bad season with the Menominees and that they are in need of relief and have been trying to get an allotment of $100 for each family for their needs with an additional $50 in the spring to start them with their seeding. Naturally, the head men of the tribe are more or less in conflict with the agent. They seem to have many grievances and some of them seem to merit consideration.

PROTEST WASTE
The Menominees by reason of their lands are by occupation loggers and woodmen. They understand the business and seem much concerned with the wasteful method now employed in denuding their lands of this valuable timber. They claim the methods are so wasteful that the price obtained for the logs are consumed almost entirely in the cost of getting them out, resulting in the Indians losing the valuable part of the holdings with no subsequent benefit. They have worked out reforestation methods which they would like to employ if they were allowed to handle their own logging.

Timber and reforestation are a hobby with me. I love the pines on the hemlocks and it is sickening to me to see how this wonderful forest, the last I know of in this state, being washed out of existence without any effort made to plant new trees or keep it in its present status.

"These Menominees claim a maximum of 10,000,000 feet can be cut a year, and by promptly substituting young trees this tract can be kept intact as a forest reserve indefinitely. They claim that outsiders employing white labor are permitted to go into these forests, pick out the best pine, cut all smaller timber in the way of getting out the big logs and general ly leave a mess."

LIBRARY HAS COPIES OF ALL NEW STATE LAWS

Appleton now has a complete legislative reference source so far as new laws are concerned at the free public library. Arrangements have been made by Miss Florence O. Day, librarian, by which copies of all bills before the Wisconsin legislature will be mailed here as soon as they are introduced. The library has received all the bills to date from the assembly and senate and has them classified for ready reference. New ones will be added as they are proposed at Madison. Anyone interested in the details of specific bills is invited to use this reference source.

CROSS WORD FANS ARE NO BOTHER TO LIBRARIANS HERE

Appleton has as many crossword puzzle fans as any other city, but they use discretion, according to librarians at the public library. Rumors from other cities are to the effect that people call the librarians at all times, asking for a word in five letters that means sorrow or a word in six letters that means to come back.

The library has three kinds of dictionaries, Century, Webster, and the Standard. Many persons visit the building to look up words, some spending an entire afternoon there, but seldom is the librarian troubled.

The library dictionaries are used because they are unabridged. It was said at the library, a school teacher came in, and after looking through all the S's, found the word she wanted and went away happy.

The dictionary is preferred to the book of synonyms and antonyms, although some make use of both.

The largest dog at a recent London dog show weighed 137 pounds. It was a St. Bernard. The smallest was a papillon that tipped the scales at only two and a half pounds.

Middies Will Have Hard Time To Win Commissions

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, D. C.—Although Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson answered "ridiculous" when asked if the authorities at Annapolis, where he is naval academy superintendent, really are trying to "freeze out" as many as they can of the 1927 class of midshipmen, nevertheless the feeling among the midshipmen themselves is that those of their number who finally get their commissions certainly will have earned them.

The 1927 class of "middles" had the bad luck, as they see it, to enter the academy in 1823, just after naval armament reduction had become a national policy.

There were nearly 1000 of them. Obviously, however, if the navy was going to be cut down, fewer officers would be needed.

WORK MADE HARDER

Congress saw this, and before the end of 1823 so drastically reduced the number of appointments of new midshipmen that the 1823 class, entering in 1824, numbered less than 400.

So here was the 1927 class more than twice as large as it ought to have been—or so the "middles" think the academy authorities look at it. With the idea of getting it down to reasonable proportions, according to the embryonic naval officers, their instructors have made their work so difficult that men have been dropping out at a rate never before heard of in the academy's history.

At any rate, it is a fact that, by the January examinations this year, the class had been reduced to about 675, and in the January examinations approximately 100 more were "bidged"—that is, failed to pass.

RECORD, SAY MIDDIES

Upon three successive failures of this sort in the regular monthly examinations midshipmen are dropped, or "permitted to resign," which is the more euphemistic official way of expressing it.

Admiral Wilson's version is that 1927 class failures have not been as pecially numerous, considering the class size, but he admits he doesn't know just what the figures are. The "middles" assert that if he'll look them up, he'll find they constitute a record by a wide margin.

Spring's Silhouette of Dual Character

The fashion-gifted woman discerns in the new season silhouette—smart simplicity. Many a frock that starts to be tailored, with revers or V-neck, finishes with flares at its hem, so that the businesslike and dressy are happily combined. A plaited flange, circular godet or inverted plait usually imparts the bit of low-placed fulness which is judged so smart this spring.

The Springtime Mood in Colors and Fabrics

Spring's fabrics and colors are foils to each other. Gleaming faille and bengaline win emphatic praise when they appear in vivacious reds, apricot tones and soft green. But fabrics of supple cashmere weaves, camel's hair twill, lusha and jersey are at their best in smart honey and golden shades, subdued yet highly flattering. The spring fashion chapter on fabric and color is interesting indeed.
